I believe these medicines may be the same medicines of "diversionary last refill medicine trail from VA1" of May 9, 2013, that had "Last Refill" and "Fill (4of4)" on all the bottles and "No Refills Remaining" on all the refill request forms.

If so, I don't understand why, on July 3, 2013, these same medicines begin to have a "2" under ""Refills Remaining". Maybe it has something to do with Senator McCain's letter of June 19, 2013, which the Director does not respond to until July 12, 2013. If so, after these 2 refills are done, what should a prudent person expect when there is not a Senator John McCain looking?

Common sense accountability suggests that those who made the change from a "0" on May 9 to a "2" on July 3 would explain the change. Why is there nothing under "Refill Submit Date" for these medicines?

Timelines

Timeline

2013.10.01 Cardiologist Dr Kandala prescribes Atorvastatin in place of Simvastatin for me against my wishes.

2013.10.02 Atorvastatin appears on my medicine list with "0 Refills Remaining"

2013.10.08 Refill status changes from "0 Refills Remaining" to "1 Refills Remains"

2013.10.19 Empty box appears before Atorvastatin but I don't select it because that could be interpreted as my accepting it in place of Simvastitan. The empty box remains as of December 10, 2013. The Atorvastatin was sent to me anyway.

2013.10.23 I receive medicine. I don't use it. The October 22 label says "Schmeling, R" is the provider

2013.12.10 The empty box remains in the VA web site as of December 10, 2013.

Summary

The known refill status of Simvastatin beginning on January 1, 2011 is "0 refills remaining" (with the exception of July 3, and December 2, 2012). Simvastatin disappears from my list of medicines on September 15, 2013, without explanation.

Just after that I received an appointment notice ("Printed on 09/18/13") for an appointment in Cardiology on October 1. I was surprised because I had recently had an appointment in Cardiology xx days before, on xxx.

A September 18, 2013, appointment notice ("Printed on 09/18/13") was sent to me for an appointment in Cardiology on October 1. I was surprised because I had recently had an appointment in Cardiology 64 days before, on July 30, 2013.

On October 2, 2013, Atorvastatin appears in my list of medicines on the VA website. On October 19, 2013, an empty box appears by Atorvastatin. I did not select it (which would mean that I am requesting it) but it was mailed to be anyway. I have not used it.
